

February 8, 2008

Hofstra Law School
Atrium

Join us for the first-FOREX symposium sponsored by the Journal of International Business and Law at Hofstra Law School. Now in our 7th year of production, the Journal seeks to bring its interdisciplinary focus of business and law to a day of panel discussions on the current issues regarding the Foreign Exchange Market (FOREX).

Lunch and refreshments will be provided.

For additional information, and to R.S.V.P affirmative replies only, please contact:

Paul Sudentas, Editor-in-Chief
(516) 463-6188 or
psuden1@pride.hofstra.edu

For directions to the Law School please visit: law.hofstra.edu/About/about_location.html

Schedule of Events:

8:30-9:00 a.m.	Registration/Breakfast
9-9:15 a.m.	Welcome/Opening remarks Dean Salvatore F. Sodano, Frank G. Zarb School of Business
9:15-10:15 a.m.	Keynote Speaker – Acting Chairman Walter Lukken, CFTC
10:15-10:30 a.m.	Break
10:30-Noon	“Is the depreciating dollar good for the U.S. economy? Is it good for the World’s economy?”
Noon–1p.m.	Lunch
1–2:30 p.m.	“FOREX Regulations in the New Millennium: the impact of Zelener and recent OTC retail FOREX regulations, and the protection of customer funds.”
2:30–2:45 p.m.	Break
2:45–4:15 p.m.	“Will the pricing and hedging strategies for individual firms be affected by the declining dollar and the legal implications thereof?”
4:15–4:30 p.m.	Closing remarks Michelle M. Wu, Interim Senior Vice Dean for Academic Affairs and Professor of Law, Hofstra Law School

FRANK G. ZARB
SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

HOFSTRA UNIVERSITY®

SCHOOL OF LAW

law.hofstra.edu/ForexSymposium