HONORS, APPOINTMENTS, AND OTHER ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Barbara Barron taught a trial advocacy teacher training course for the Department of State and Justice Department in Macedonia on January 23-26. The teacher training course is part of an integrated, comprehensive effort to introduce American style trial advocacy skills to the Macedonian criminal justice system.

Bennett Capers was recently elected Chairperson of the AALS Section on Criminal Justice, a one-year position. Professor Capers has also been named Chair of the Planning Committee for the AALS's 2013 Mid-Year Criminal Justice Conference. The Planning Committee will be responsible for organizing a three-day program for the 2013 mid-year meeting.

The National Law Journal featured Hofstra

Law's study abroad program in Cuba on March 30. The program, lead by Juli Campagna, is the result of a 2011 trip to Cuba by Dean Nora Demleitner, Jeffrey Dodge and Campagna.

J. Scott Colesanti will be serving as Semi-Final Round judge in Fordham Law School's Irving R. Kaufman Memorial Securities Law Moot Court Competition for the second year in a row.

Eric M. Freedman as amici curiae submitted a brief in support of the petition for writ of certiorari in the Michael Bascum Selsor v. Randall G. Workman case.

Brian Frye received a grant from the Jerome Foundation for his feature-length documentary, Our Nixon.

The documentary was also featured in The Wall Street Journal on January 23, in an article entitled "Nixon at Home, Kissinger on the Beach," and in a Newsday article entitled "Film to show home movies of Nixon staffers" on January 28.

Further, Frye received a grant from Creative Capital for his new documentary, The Rules of Evidence, which investigates how courts interpret motion pictures presented as evidence.

Joanna Grossman's book, Inside the Castle (Princeton University Press, 2011), won the 2011 David J. Langum, Sr. Prize in American Legal History.

Frank Gulino served as Regional Coordinator as Hofstra Law hosted the Region 2 Rounds of the National Trial Competition (NTC) last week.

Of the nine schools competing in the region this year, Hofstra Law was the only school to have both its teams reach the regional finals. One of the Hofstra teams won its final trial.

At an awards banquet held on February 10 at Domus, home of the Nassau County Bar Association, two Hofstra students won three of four awards for individual advocacy through the competition's preliminary rounds.

Further, Professor Gulino served as a judge in the Philip C. Jessup International Law Moot Court Competition; and for the third straight year, he served as a Brief Judge in the National Moot Court Competition in Child Welfare & Adoption Law.

Frank Gulino also coached a Hofstra Law team to compete in the New York Regional rounds of the ABA's National Appellate Advocacy Competition (NAAC). The Hofstra team went all the way to the regional finals before narrowly being defeated in the final round.

Lastly, a team of Hofstra Law students, coached by Professor Gulino, finished as semifinalists in the 20th Annual Duberstein Bankruptcy Moot Court Competition. They also won an Outstanding Brief Award. Based upon a combination of oral and brief scores, the Hofstra Law team ranked fourth (out of 56 total teams) in the competition.

Susan Joffe served as a judge for the Child Welfare and Adoption Law Moot Court Competition.

Theo Liebmann has been selected by the New York State Appellate Division's Second Department to serve on the Attorneys for Children Advisory Committee for the Tenth Judicial District.

Christopher McGrath received the 2012 Attorney Professionalism Award, the top honor from the state's bar association, on January 26, 2012 at the Association's Annual Meeting in Manhattan.

Ashira Ostrow's article, "Process Preemption in Federal Siting Regimes," 48 HARV. J. LEGIS. 289 (2011) was selected for inclusion in a Thomson Reuters publication called the Zoning and Planning Law Handbook.

The article was also featured in the January/February 2012 issue of Probate and Property.

Susan Saab Fortney taught an LL.M. class in the Global Business Law Program at the University of La Trobe in Melbourne this past

December. The class, called the Global Lawyer, focused on issues related to transnational law practice.

Professor Fortney was also awarded a 2011-2012 Faculty Diversity Research and Curriculum Development grant for her project called, "The Ethics of Diversity and the Legal Profession."

James Sample's report, New Politics of Judicial Elections, was cited in the Montana Supreme Court's majority opinion as it upheld the state's century-old ban on direct, general corporate treasury spending for or against political candidates.

Amy Stein served as a brief judge in the National Moot Court Competition in Child Welfare and Adoption Law for the sixth time. Students participating in the competition argued current critical issues concerning child welfare and adoption law before the state Supreme Court.

Vern Walker is on the Program Committee for the fourth Workshop on Semantic Processing of Legal Texts, to be held in Istanbul on May 27. The workshop will be part of the Eighth International Conference on Language Resources and Evaluation (LREC).

Further, "A Framework for the Extraction and Modeling of Fact-finding Reasoning from Legal Decisions: Lessons from the Vaccine/Injury Project Corpus, an article authored by Vern R. Walker and 2011 Hofstra graduates Nathaniel Carie, Courtney C. DeWitt and Eric Lesh, was featured in the January 27 issue of the New York Law Journal.
