3. Read:
   • Pages 1 - 24 in The Bluebook.
   • The “Core Grammar Memo” that appears at the end of this document. Please sign up for this service as directed in the Memo.
   • Chapter I of Legal Writing, All Business.

4. Prepare:
   • The “No Vehicle” Synthesis Assignment included below.

NOTE: This assignment may be handwritten. All subsequent assignments need to be typed, double spaced with one inch margins, using 12-point Times New Roman font. Please bring two copies of each completed assignment to class, one to be handed in, and one for you to work with during class. Your final grade in this class will reflect your timely and accurate completion of all assignments, including these.
Exercise - “No Vehicle” Synthesis

One of the skills critical to being a good legal writer is the ability to synthesize Rules from multiple sources. Synthesis is the process of distilling a single understanding of the Rule from a number of different legal authorities.

For example, imagine that your task is to locate the Rule for registering an automobile in New York. You learn from various sources that the driver must provide an insurance card (and it cannot be expired). She must also pay a fee of $125. The driver also cannot have a suspended license, and that license must have been issued by the State of New York. Additionally, trucks and motorcycles and commercial vehicles have special requirements. And the car cannot be over 20 years old.

Your resulting Rule would look something like this:

> To register an automobile for personal use in New York, the registrant must complete the following tasks: 1) obtain a current insurance card for an auto that is less than 20 years old, 2) maintain a valid New York license, and 3) pay a fee of $125. Special requirements exist for trucks, motorcycles, and commercial vehicles.

Note that the Rule (a complete sentence) is specific to a jurisdiction (i.e., New York). The Rule also employs a “conjunctive test” (i.e., utilizes numbers, as well as the word “and”) to ease the reader’s burden. Exceptions/additional factors to consider appear last.

This notion of formulating an efficient Rule shall be dwelled on in class, and you will ultimately be required to synthesize more elaborate case authorities for Writing Assignment I. For now, practice synthesizing a Rule using the brief case authorities appearing below.

Specifically, the 3-step exercise below contains a statute and four case summaries. Assume that these are the only authorities in your jurisdiction that address the question of when vehicles may be brought into a city park. Your job is to synthesize these authorities and write a coherent Rule that takes all of the authorities into account.

Essentially what you will be doing is writing what you think is the current state of the law on whether a vehicle may be brought into a city park. As a context for this exercise, assume that you are writing for a lawyer who, although quite experienced, is unfamiliar with the issue of laws that protect parks. You want to concisely give this reader enough information so that she will be able to apply the law to new fact patterns posed by future clients.

Note also that the rules of citation require you to explain the origin of an authority. Thus, in writing your synthesis, you should cite to your authority for each sentence by putting the name of the case (or statute) at the end of the sentence. An example appears below:
The purpose of the “no vehicle” statute is to protect people in the park from unnecessary disruption. Ambulance Driver.

Overall, you will do the following:

1. Fill out the attached chart (including individual Rules from each case).
2. Attempt to synthesize a Rule of the overall state of the law on this issue. Your Rule can be handwritten.

*You should bring two copies of the entire exercise to class (one to hand in, and one for you to use in class).

THE SYNTHESIS EXERCISE BEGINS BELOW.

STEP ONE: Read all the items below carefully.

Statute: “No person shall bring a vehicle into a city park.”

Case #1: Ambulance Driver

Facts: A boy fell through the ice in the park, and an ambulance driver brought an ambulance into the park to save the boy.

Issue: Did the ambulance driver violate Statute?

Holding: No. Although the statute applies, there is an exception for necessity.

Reasoning: The purpose of the “no vehicle” statute is to protect people in the park (and park property) from unnecessary disruption. Here, the ambulance was necessary to save a human life.

Case #2: Tree Trimmer

Facts: A tree trimmer hired by the city entered the park to trim dead branches off the trees. He brought a cherry picker into the park to reach the trees and haul away the branches.

Issue: Does the “necessity” defense apply to the tree trimmer?

Holding: Yes, the tree trimmer’s vehicle was also a necessity.
Reasoning: Prior case law has held that statute is not violated where a vehicle is necessary to save a human life. Here, although no life was at stake, the tree trimmer’s vehicle was necessary for two city purposes: to prevent dead limbs from falling on people, and to beautify the park, which was another purpose for enacting the statute.

Case #3: Ice Cream Cart

Facts: A man selling ice cream from a two-wheeled push cart was cited for violating the statute.

Issue: Is a two-wheeled push cart a vehicle under Statute?

Holding: Yes, the ice cream cart is a vehicle within the meaning of the statute.

Reasoning: The cart has wheels and is used to store ice cream. Although the cart remains on the sidewalk, people eating ice cream leave their wrappers on the grass. Therefore, the vehicle violates the statute's purpose.

Case #4: Skate Boarders

Facts: Twelve year-old kids rode skateboards through the park at 10:00 p.m.

Issue: Is a skateboard a vehicle under Statute #1?

Holding: Yes, a skateboard is a vehicle, and therefore the kids violated Statute #1.

Reasoning: The purpose of the statute is to protect people and park grounds. Here, skateboards have wheels, are dangerous, and ruin grass. Therefore, they are vehicles within the meaning of the statute.

LAWR I -- Fall 2018 -- Professor Colesanti –Core Grammar Memo

Core Grammar for Lawyers (“CGL”) is an online, self-instructional program that will give you practice in fundamental grammar conventions, as well as advanced grammar issues that are specific to Legal Writing. The entire first year class will be participating in this program. The goal is ensuring that you will all be able to write proficiently in this course and in your work as a lawyer.

Below are the details as to how you will use CGL:

1. Purchase a one year subscription for $30.00. Go to: https://www.cappress.com/coregrammar/purchase.php and fill out the first page of the Purchase Form. Select "New York" for the state and "Hofstra Law School" for the school. On the second page (the payment page), there is a box that says "If you have an Access Code (optional), enter it here.” Our Access Code is HOFS2018. After you enter this code and complete this page, the reduced pricing option of $ 30.00 will appear. Complete the rest of the form, verify your information, and create your own username and password. Do not share your password.

2. Activate your subscription. When you activate your subscription, enter this exact Class Code (which is unique to our section): 318-157-3662. Do not borrow a Class Code from anyone else or you will enroll in the wrong section. The name of this Class is “Colesanti LAWR I Fall 2018.” If you have already purchased and activated your subscription, you may add your Class Code by going to “My Account” and selecting “Edit Account Information.” I will be able to monitor your work on this program through this Class Code.

3. Log-in at http://coregrammarforlawyers.com. Click on the link on the home page called, “Bookshelf,” and launch the Pre-Test. Do not opt out of the Pre-Test. You must complete the Pre-Test prior to our class on Monday, August 27th. The Pre-Test has 96 questions and typically takes 45 – 75 minutes to complete. Do not consult outside resources when you take the Pre-Test.
