FOREWORD

On March 13, 2009, the Hofstra Labor & Employment Law Journal hosted the Symposium entitled “The Grand Irony of ERISA?: Intersectionality of ERISA Preemption and Remedial Issues” at the New Yorker Hotel in New York, New York. The Symposium was organized by the students, and was moderated by Susan H. Joffe, Assistant Professor of Legal Writing, and Lillian Spiess, Special Professor of Law. The panelists and their topics were as follows:

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

Edward A. Zelinsky
Morris and Annie Trachman Professor of Law
Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law of Yeshiva University
New York, New York

PREEMPTION

James A. Wooten
Professor of Law
University at Buffalo Law School
Buffalo, New York

Debra A. Davis
Tax Counsel - ERISA
Union Pacific Railroad
Chicago, Illinois

Phyllis Borzi
Research Professor
George Washington School of Public Health
Washington, District of Columbia
REMEDIES

Peter K. Stris
Professor of Law
Whittier Law School
Costa Mesa, California

Eric D. Chason
Associate Professor of Law
William & Mary Law School
Williamsburg, Virginia

Donald T. Bogan
Professor of Law
The University of Oklahoma College of Law
Norman, Oklahoma

INTERSECTIONALITY

Paul M. Secunda
Professor of Law
Marquette University School of Law
Milwaukee, Wisconsin

Nell Hennessy
President & Chief Executive Officer
Fiduciary Counselors, Inc.
Washington, District of Columbia

Andrew L. Oringer
Partner
Ropes & Gray, LLP
New York, New York
GOING FORWARD

Elizabeth Pendo
Professor of Law
Center for Health Law Studies
Saint Louis University School of Law
St. Louis, Missouri

Thomas P. Gies
Partner
Crowell & Moring, LLP
Washington, District of Columbia

Jonathan B. Forman
Alfred P. Murrah Professor of Law
The University of Oklahoma College of Law
Norman, Oklahoma

The Hofstra Labor & Employment Law Journal is proud to have contributed to the dialogue and legal scholarship regarding the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) and pension benefits law. We thank our distinguished panelists and authors for their contributions, and specifically acknowledge the valuable assistance and support of Professor Paul M. Secunda, who was instrumental in the planning of this Symposium.

Thank you for your continued support and we hope you enjoy this special edition.

—Board of Editors